CLASS OF 1959
LITTLETON HIGH SCHOOL
Littleton, New Hampshire

We. the class of 1959,

dedicate this,

our SENIOR YEARBOOK

TO

MRS. ALICE HYDE

—for her helping hand when it was needed most,

—for all the time and effort she unselfishly gave to aid us,

—for an intense interest in all her students,

—and because, to us, she embodies all those qualities which stand for the title "Teacher."

Principal's Message

These pages will recall your days at Littleton High School. A chapter of your lives is ending and another is about to begin. I hope you will carry with you certain intangibles which are among life's greatest treasures, namely, courage to stand up for what you know is right, loyalty to those principles you believe in, responsibility for your words and actions, and sincerity, for if you are to know others you must first know yourselves.

Class

On September 3, 1955, we, the Class of 1959, began our adventure in the upper realm of our teenage social sphere. Our past experiences had left us masters of our primary schooling, and as rulers of Junior High we had acquired a confidence which was soon to be dashed and broken on the rocks of Freshman degradation. Our morale boosters in this crucial period were, of course, the Grand Old Seniors, who used every subtle trick at their disposal, under the guise of making us feel "right at home." No torture could equal the humiliation we suffered as our own sophisticated group was placed on public exhibition, clothed in the dubious finery of men's long underwear and multicolored diapers. Free beauty treatments were given many a freshman—which included plenty of eyebrow makeup, charcoal and a varied assortment of coldcreams and lipsticks. After a day of such pomp and ceremony, filled with such little eccentricities as a full course meal of California lemons, eggs and partially decayed haddock, our faith in mankind had faltered.

Having survived initiation, we had at last earned the honored privilege of becoming full fledged members of Littleton High. Our lot was not an easy one for we were still the upper classmen's target for practical jokes. Due to our confused methods of operation, our popularity with the faculty was growing, and we consoled ourselves with the knowledge that we were now becoming an integral part of L. H. S. Our class advisors during this important year were Mrs. Hyde and Mr. Monroe. Their guidance in this, our growing period, was certainly appreciated.

Our major project was the St. Patrick's Dance which we celebrated on March 24, because we were interrupted in the middle of preparations by a "good ole fashioned blizzard." It was in our Freshman year that our group of 66 first tried to function as a team. For some, this was the beginning of deep-rooted friendships which have grown as each successive year has passed, leading finally to our Senior Year. For our Freshman class officers we had Phillip De-Simone, president; Mary Beth Connors, vice-president; Mary Jo Cyr, secretary; and Gayle Stanley, treasurer.

We returned to school in the fall of '56 with the confidence that marks upper classmen. We had experienced the trials of being Freshmen, and we welcomed the Class of '60 in much the same manner as we ourselves had been greeted. To this class we left the lowly position above, to which we had elevated ourselves, namely that of Freshmen. Mr. Shiere and Mr. Drago were our advisors and though we were trying at times, they somehow managed to aid us in our varied affairs. We had three major projects at this time: a foodsale, a second foodsale and last, but not least, another foodsale.

Our social season opened with the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance into which we injected our own creative ideas. We pride ourselves on being privileged to have played the part of Cupid in starting many of the season's most prominent romances.

Our class, feeling quite confident in its capable leaders, left all decisions of any importance to our president, Spencer Girouard; vice-president, George Santy; secretary, Mary Jo Cyr; and treasurer, Daniel Cullen.

After a summer of leisure, we returned to the halls of L. H. S. in the fall of '57. As Juniors, we had Phil DeSimone as president; Mary Jo Cyr, vice-president; Sharon Sweet, secretary; and Thomas Ross, treasurer.

Although we sponsored various projects, the most important was the Junior Prom. With lavish decorations, our theme, "Around the World", was made a reality. Because the prom was the greatest project of our high school career, various preparations were made as early as September. When the month of May finally arrived, the Junior Class moved into the gym. From this point on, the class spent hours on end putting up props and painting the numerous scenes.

History

Mrs. Hyde and Mr. MacPherson helped make our Prom the best ever. After all the last minute chores were done, our class could look with pride at the beautiful world of various countries. The next day, after everyone had enjoyed a marvelous evening, we were in rapture to learn that we were the first class in several years to clear the cost of its prom; in fact, we, the Class of '59, had actually made a profit.

In June, the Junior Class had, as its last major undertaking, a reception for the Seniors after the Class Night exercises.

Finally, on the last day of school, most of the class met at Sweet's camp, where we had a picnic and enjoyed swimming and boating. It was at this point that we realized that we were no longer "Jolly Juniors," but "Wise Old Seniors," a title which we had been striving to achieve since the moment we entered L. H. S.

In September, 1958, we at long last entered our Senior Year, and its magnificence has far exceeded our fondest expectations.

To aid us in making this year the most memorable possible, we elected the following to guide us: Michael Knights, president; Charles Collins, vice-president; Sharon Sweet, secretary; and Joan Warren, treasurer. For our advisors we had Mr. Valway, Mr. Graham and Mr. Winer.

The first notable undertaking of the Senior Class was its annual Get Acquainted Dance. It was at this time that we had the opportunity of meeting, on friendly terms, the Freshman Class, who were soon to become our victims. Actually the Freshmen's bad luck began when the freshman hop committee was chosen to decide the fate of these poor individuals. Being of merciless character, we put the little dears through many tortuous paces.

Our next project was the Christmas Dance. We spent the better part of a week with reindeer and Santas running constantly through our thoughts. Finally, the big night arrived, and a good time was had by all.

During the Christmas vacation, our first movie was shown under the supervision of Mr. Sarausky. These movies have been quite successful and have done their part in getting us to New York.

As the month of April approached far too slowly, every member of the Senior Class was looking forward expectantly to that long-awaited class trip, which was the result of four years' hard work.

As Seniors, we have been mercilessly besieged with class pictures, dance and supper preparations, trip problems, ice cream sales, record sponsorships, college boards and hundreds of other things too numerous to mention! In fact, it is surprising that we have found time to attend classes at all. But, in spite of all our hardships, everyone will agree that this has been a truly wonderful year. Not only have we had a wonderful time together as a class, but in this, our final year, we have achieved a unity which will linger forever in the hearts of us who will soon pass through the portals of our beloved Alma Mater. We have been instilled with those qualities of leadership and character that will be essential in helping us to attain our individual goals. For this, we are thankful to all our teachers, who have taught by example rather than by words; to Mr. Kenney and the administration, who have been so helpful when we needed advice and encouragement; and to all of our fellow students who have helped make these years at L. H. S. the happiest of our lives.

THE FUTURE BELONGS TO US

We, the Class of 1959, are about to take one of the most important and significant steps in our lives. The completion of our high school education is at last upon us, and we hope that we are strong enough to meet the challenges that achievement presents.

Our parents and teachers have worked tirelessly and unceasingly in order that we might receive the best education possible. Indeed, they have given us a chance which many youths in other parts of the world are not afforded. Because of this, we should try to put forth the best, each according to his own capabilities.

At times we wish that we were endowed with that gift which would enable us to see far and beyond today into the far away realm of tomorrow—the tomorrow which will be shaped by us and the millions like us. Will we be strong enough to meet the challenges which life will offer us? Will we merely become a statistic or will some of us prove ingenious enough to rise above and beyond the accepted norm and take our places with the favored few? Looking back on our past four years we are thankful that we were unaware of the problems and difficulties that have faced us. Perhaps if we had been able to forsee what lay ahead of us, we might have become discouraged, thinking the task beyond our capacity.

We hold dear the idea of a peaceable tomorrow, but we are realistic enough to know that if this cherished hope is to come to pass it will only be a result of international good will and tolerance. The beginnings of this desired end we must practice at home. Not tomorrow, not today, but now!

This cooperation and getting along with our fellow men is the only foundation which will support a real, lasting peace, and it is up to us as citizens of tomorrow to lay this foundation in school, at home, and in our relations with our neighbors.

We pride ourselves with knowledge, acquired not only from books but from the examples of those about us. We are confident of our maturity, believing that our ideals and comprehension of the world about us have become adult and forward-looking. We sincerely hope that our interest in life will always remain as keen and sharp, for apathy and lethargy will stagnate and corrupt our bright tomorrow. May we always pulsate with the sprit of sound, thoughtful questioning and careful evaluation.

But most of all we hope to pass on to our children freedom, their natural heritage; and, we trust, more effective means of aiding, strengthening and developing this freedom here and throughout the world.

These are our hopes. Whether we will accomplish them or not only the future will tell. Nevertheless, we will face the future, placing our trust in God, through Whom all things are possible.

NOSTALGIA

As pre-schoolers and grade-schoolers we would gaze longingly and wonderingly at the stately, inscrutable edifice known as the high school. We looked into our future, nebulous and far-distant; but, because we were young, other things captured our interests. Then, after what had seemed an indeterminable time, we were about to enter into that vast new world. We would learn that it was not the building but what it possessed that would be the key to unlock the golden door of knowledge.

As ninth-graders, we entered this door a bit unsure and diffident, but masked our hestitancy with an aura of freshman sophistication. During the next four years, we would cast off the carefreeness of childhood and prepare to enter the world of adult responsibility: "When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things."

We will have many memories of our high school years. Each of us will have his own remembrances nestled deeply in his heart. What will we recall? Perhaps we will remember the sleepy Mondays or the restless Fridays; the crisp fall days with an azure sky tenting a kaleidoscope of painted leaves when we daydreamed of the past summer's love or the next football game; the pep rallies; the glowing, crackling bonfire; and the exuberance of the cheerleaders and spectators as our winning touchdown was made.

Maybe we will remember the first snowfall when the mountains were being blanketed with a crystal robe of snowflakes. Looking out the window on which Jack Frost had been tracing, the lacy snowdrops presented a ballet as they gracefully skipped and bounced, falling like a murmuring summer waterfall. Oh, how we fervently wished that we could be out there, light-hearted and gay. Remember the close and exciting basketball games where we cheered and cheered until our voices grew hoarse? In April the melodious pitter-patter of tiny raindrops on the window panes would interrupt our study hall reverie. During the warm spring days Cupid was on the prowl, and we gazed up at the soft, cottonball clouds sailing past in the blue satin sky. Perhaps we dreamed that we were casting a rod in a bubbling woodland stream, or that we were the belle of the Junior Prom. Who could really forget these: finding the correct answer to the equation X2 — 7X + 12 = 0; was it in 1775 when the American Revolution began? studying les temps primitifs d'aller; balancing the formula KCLO3 — KCL + O2; Ceasar's almost interminable conquests; the noisy, merry students walking in the halls; the clash and clatter of locker doors; the long, rippling rows of hastily shed boots and rubbers; the teachers directing the flow of students between classes and shouting commands: "Keep to the right" and "Don't use that stairway." These are only little things, yet familar to everyone. Just before 12:22, books are slammed shut. Everyone turns expectantly toward the classroom door. The countdown has begun: 10, 9, 8—tenseness and worry furrow our brows; 7, 6, 5, 4—we bite our lips; the immense silence is nervewracking; 3, 2, 1, 0—"Blast off!" The lunch bell has rung, and the room is vacated. Remember the study halls where we became skilled in the art of sign language, and a whiz at passing notes? Remember, also, the teachers who were always ready to help us and our class and their activities? All these and more we will hold dear in our memories of our high school days.

New worlds on worlds of learning unfolded imperceptibly. We entered as children; we graduate as young adults, ready to take our place in the world of men.

The Student Council, being the representatives of the student body, sent delegates to the regional and state meetings throughout the past year. At these meetings, subjects pertinent to the welfare of the students were discussed. Among these topics was a Student Code of Ethics which your council is constructing for the student body. Other accomplishments included the Student Handbook which was made available to all interested. This handbook initiates the student to high school life, both as student and participant in extracurricular activities.

The council would like to extend its thanks both to Mr. Paquette, the advisor, who contributed his time and effort to the success of the council and to the administration, whose assistance was available throughout the year.

Mr. C. George McLure organized the Littleton High School Band in 1951.

On April 26, 1958, the band ventured to Plainville, Conn. for an exchange concert. The Plainville Band returned this concert in November. Another exchange concert was held on March 13 with Lawrence High School in Fairfield, Maine.

The band was an added attraction at football games, rallies, basketball games and other school events, and took part in the Laconia Audition festival, May 10, 1958.

Each year students have participated in the Mount Royal International Music Festival in Montreal, Quebec. Those attending this year included Albert Towle, Linda Reid, Steven McLure, Martha Estle, Judy Sawyer, and Karen Tunney.

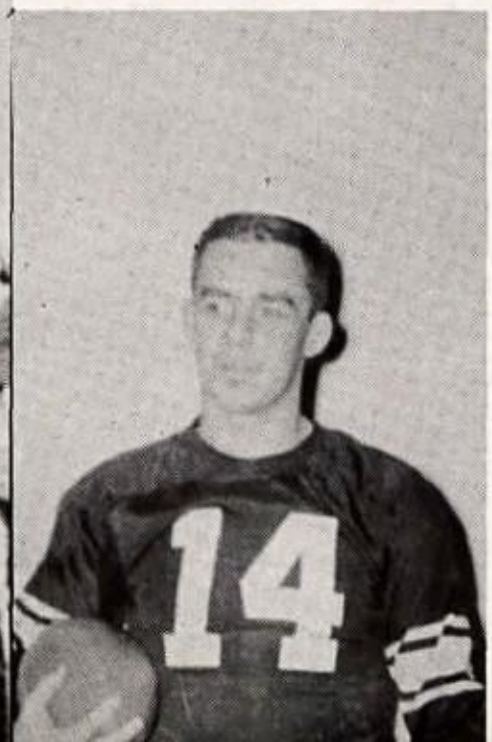
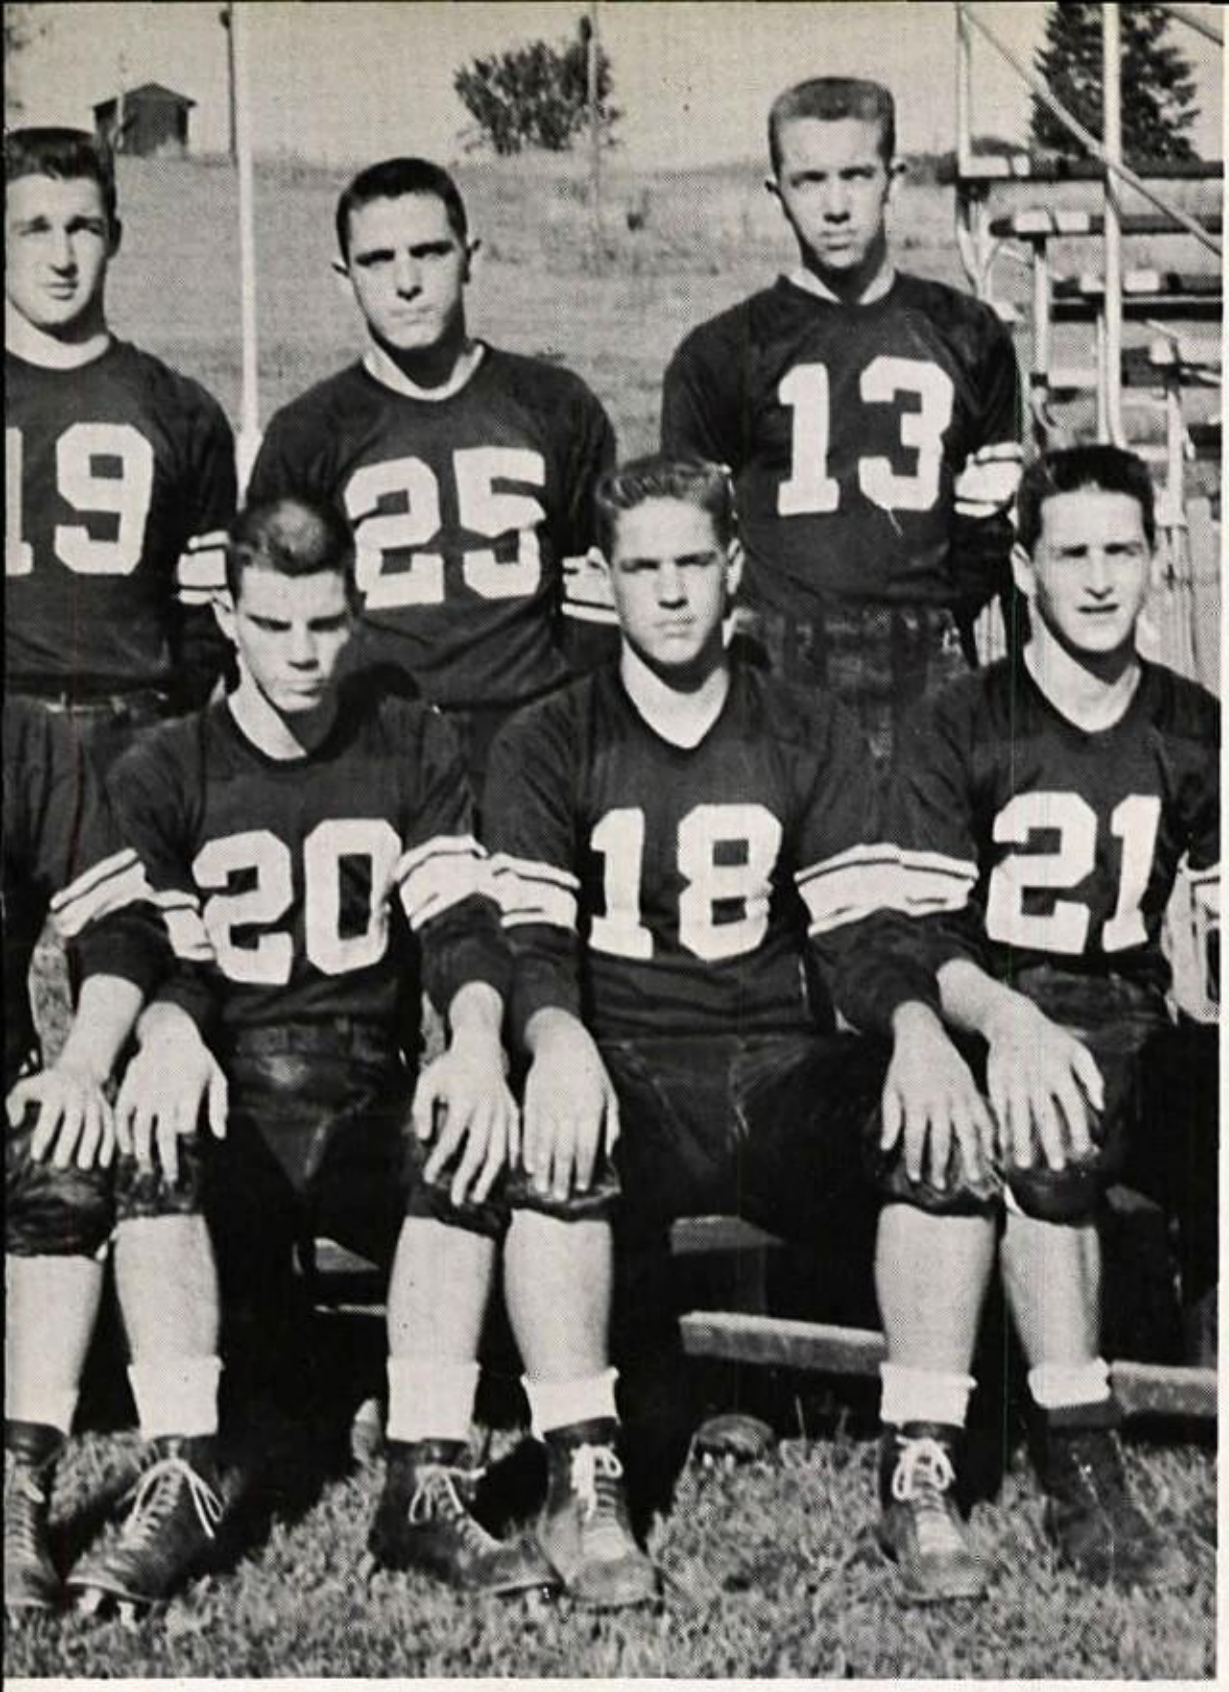
Sports

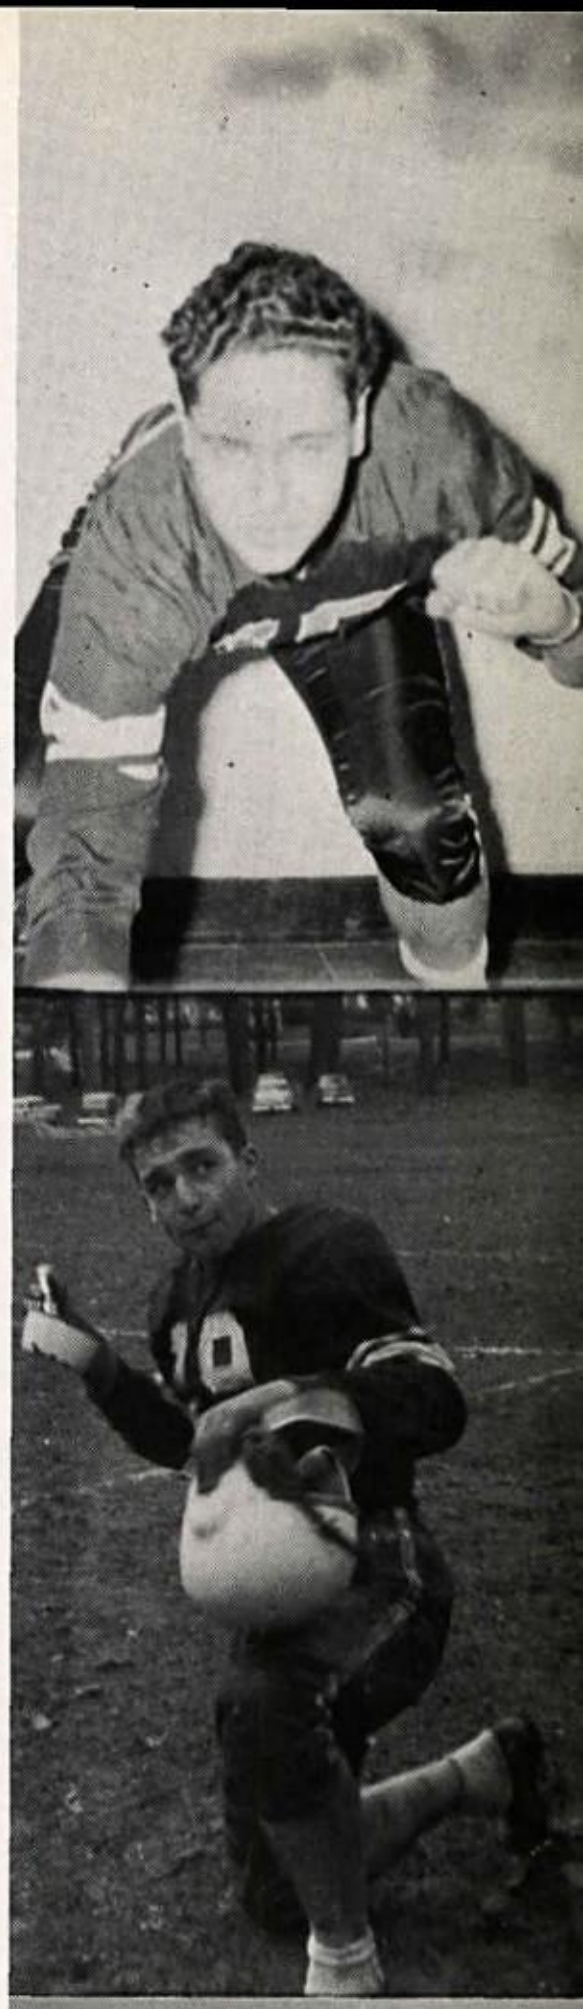
Varsity

The football team was called to practice in August in order to prepare for the early schedule which started the first week in September.

Most of the candidates were inexperienced. Coach Sarausky and his new assistant, Coach Graham, produced a good team, considering the large number of injuries throughout the season. Although the Crusaders did not have a winning season, they displayed fine sportsmanship and an abundance of enthusiasm during the season.



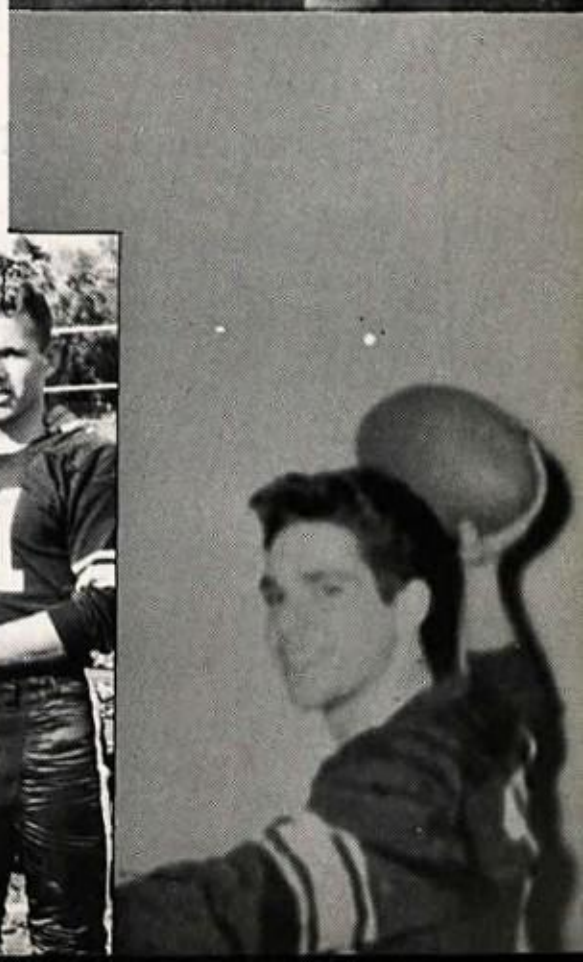




Football

The team did recapture the Potter Memorial Trophy in the last seconds of play with Plymouth. Our student body supported the team all the way.

Among those who will graduate are Co-captains Robert Stearns and George Santy, Michael Knights, Thomas Ross, Willard Newton, Daniel Cullen, Charles Collins and Philip DeSimone.



Basketball

First Row: J. Gallinelli, D. Cullen, E. Bagley, P. DeSimone. Second Row: B. Hadlock, W. Richardson, G. Evans, J. Brooks, Mr. Smith, A. Beal, T. Walker, J. DeSimone, D. Roper.

The basketball team had a fairly successful season, ending with a record of ten wins and twelve losses.

Coach Smith, for the first time in his Littleton career, had an assistant coach, Mr. Peter Graham. This enabled Mr. Smith to devote more time to the varsity.

Next year's team looks very promising, with four of the starting five returning.

The Seniors on the team are P. DeSimone, J. Gallinelli, E. Bagley and D. Cullen; Juniors: B. Clark, G. Evans, W. Richardson and B. Hadlock; Sophomores: T. Walker, D. Roper, and J. DeSimone.

The L.H.S. Girls' Basketball Team had a disappointing season, in spite of the fair prospects.

They defeated the well-balanced and successful Groveton team twice but lost their other games. Many games were hard fought and close, despite the fact that the team lost them.

Miss Zula Westmoreland, the coach, was assisted by Miss Linda Potter of Gorham, a practice teacher from Plymouth Teachers' College, for the first half of the year. Joan Warren and Mary Ann Cullen were co-captains; Joan Hesseltine and Ann Barbara Cullen were managers.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The Junior Varsity enjoyed one of its best seasons in many years, losing only one game out of a busy schedule of 10 played during the 1958-59 campaign. The boys worked hard under Coach Graham and missed having an undefeated season by a margin of only two points in a loss to the Woodsville Jayvees. Littleton held victories over Notre Dame (of Berlin), Lincoln, St. Patrick's (of Berlin), Plymouth and Woodsville. This Junior Varsity squad brought much credit to their school, and, with their coach, are to be congratulated for a job well done.

BASEBALL

Coach Sarausky's 1958 baseball team got off to a rough start by losing their first two games. They displayed their enthusiasm and ability by winning their next eight games. The team was edged out of the tournament when they were defeated by Woodsville by a score of 3 to 1.

The returning lettermen this year are S. DeSimone, D. Cullen, B. Clark, W. Richardson, J. DeSimone and T. Walker.

L.H.S. enjoyed a fine season despite the poor weather conditions which at times had the team in a quandry. This year's L.H.S. skiers probably skied on less snow and more ice than any of their predecessors.

Our activities included meets with Hanover at Hanover and Littleton; a four-way meet against the Lyndonville A. & B. squads and Berlin. Our season ended when Littleton was host to the State Class L meet. Despite great adversities in the weather, the meet went off very successfully.

This year's team was large in number but small in experience with only six high school boys and nine junior high members. Littleton was the only school in the State meet which had junior high boys, yet we were able to retain our position in the Class L group.

An outstanding performance was that of Bryan Whitcomb, who skied in four events and was runner up for skimeister in the State Meet.

The team had a comparatively poor year point-wise but is looking forward to a series of excellent seasons with a wealth of young material at hand.

Girls' Ski Team

First Row: G. Stanley, T. Norton, J. Copenhaver, D. Colby. Second Row: D. Parker, N. Heath, B. Dudley, D. Heald.

Through the efforts of Coach Ericson, a girls' Ski Team was formed for the first time at Littleton High School. In addition to a few ski meets, the girls diligently helped to "check" at the boys' meets. In due time, if the enthusiasm continues, it will become a prominent sport for the girls at Littleton High.
